
A BRAND NEW DAY IN THE BIG APPLE

Sway Lounge

Nestled in Soho's Western perimeter, at 305 Spring Street between Hudson and Greenwich, Sway opened its doors to quickly become a rock-n-roll playground for New Yorkers and celebs in the know.

Its Moroccan décor complete with domed ceilings, tiled walls and candle-lit interior make it a sexy experience from when you first walk in the door. Part lounge, part club, Sway always stays at the forefront of music, mixing new sounds from all genres with Rock-n-roll

Home Restaurant

A true farm-to-table restaurant, the team at Home believes in the integrity of the ingredients used to craft its menu and is proud to support local farms and farmers, whose hard work and dedication produce the superior ingredients that are the backbone of Chef Ross Gill's unpretentious American menu. As a compliment to the menu, the wine and cocktail program at Home is also a study in artisanal wine and spirits production.

Colbert Report

The Colbert Report is a spin-off and counterpart of The Daily Show which, like The Daily Show, critiques politics and the media. It satirizes personality-driven political pundit programs. The show focuses on Stephen Colbert, a fictional anchorman character played by Colbert. The character, described by Colbert as a "well-intentioned, poorly informed, high-status idiot", is a caricature of televised political pundits.

The Daily Show

Describing itself as a "fake news" program, The Daily Show draws its comedy from recent news stories, satirizing political figures and media organizations. The show typically opens with a monologue from the host relating to recent headlines and frequently features exchanges with one or more of several correspondents, who adopt absurd or humorously exaggerated takes on current events against Stewart's straight man.
